A VISIT TO THE AIGUILLE DU MIDI, MONTENVERS, OR BOTH? IT'S UP TO YOU!

Hop on with a guide for a trip to the heights of Chamonix, where you'll hear all the secrets behind these iconic spots: from the epic story of mountaineering, to how these sites were built, and even the role of glaciers and their unstoppable melting...

Visit duration:

- 1 site = half a day
- 2 sites = full day

"Great conference, really interesting, led brilliantly by Olivier, very professional with a lot of humor! Details, anecdotes, amazing knowledge about the history of the place, geography, geology... and the issue of climate change..."

Thanks, Olivier!"

DESCRIPTION

- Visit to the Aiguille du Midi (about 3 hours)

Head over to the Aiguille du Midi square to catch one of the highest cable cars in Europe, taking you up nearly 3,842 meters to the Aiguille du Midi!

Once there, your guide will show you around the galleries and terraces that make up the Aiguille du Midi, giving you plenty of time to soak in the magic of the high mountains and its glaciers. The Mont Blanc seems so close! By the end of the tour, you'll know all about the history of the place and how people made their dreams come true up here.

- Visit to Montenvers - Mer de Glace (about 3 hours)

From the Mer de Glace square in Chamonix, you'll hop on a 70-year-old cogwheel train to reach Montenvers, "the mountain upside down," where alpine tourism first began. Your guide will share the history of mountaineering, the largest glacier in the French Alps, and of course, the role of glaciers and Alpine landscapes for both humans and ecosystems. With all this info, you'll fully enjoy your visit to the ice cave, deep inside the glacier. It's an experience you won't forget!
